GOV. EASLEY REAPPOINTS D'AMBRA TO JUVENILE JUSTICE PLANNING COMMITTEE

RALEIGH – Gov. Mike Easley has reappointed Francis D'Ambra to the Juvenile Justice Planning Committee of the Governor's Crime Commission.

D'Ambra is the chief of police in Manteo. He is a member of the Governor's Crime Commission, N.C. Association of Chiefs of Police and International Association of Chiefs of Police. D'Ambra was named Pitt County Law Enforcement Officer of the Year in 1993 and the Governor's Award for Excellence in Community Policing in 1999. He received his Bachelor's in criminal justice from Mount Olive College.

The committee advises the state advisory board on administering juvenile justice and delinquency prevention grants from the U.S. Department of Justice. The committee has 25 members. They are all appointed by the governor.
